SILVER IN THE SENATE.

Coloradoans Petition for Repeal of the McKinley Bill.

STEWART ENDS HIS SPEECH.

He Pays His Respects to the New York Press.

The Customs Receipts Not So Low Since the War—Government Expenditures Largely in Excess of Receipts—Carlisle is Worried.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7.—When the Senate convened this morning Wolcott, Republican of Colorado, presented a petition which he said was signed by every business man in Durango, Colorado, praying for the repeal of the McKinley bill. He said the petition was on a blank form sent out by the bank for the repeal of the Sherman act, but the petitioners had erased "purchasing clause of the Sherman act" and inserted "McKinley bill." This statement elicited laughter among the Republican senators.

Wolcott also submitted a resolution directing the secretary of the treasury to inform the Senate what sums had been paid as bounties on maple sugar under the law of October 14, 1890, since the passage of the act, showing the states in which payment had been made.

Gallinger, Republican of New Hampshire, suggested that the resolution be modified to include all sugars.

Wolcott replied in an acrimonious tone that he was able to prepare his own resolution. (Laughter.)

The resolution was agreed to.

White, Democrat of California, submitted a resolution directing the secretary of the treasury to ascertain the extent to which the Sherman act had been enforced and what portion of the same had been available, and whether in his opinion further appropriations are necessary to carry out the provisions of the bill and what amount will be required for the current fiscal year of the act. Agreed to.

Resolutions were reported from the committee on fiscal expenses allowing the chairman for senatorial meals appointed by the governor of Montana, Wyoming and Washington compensation for time spent and expenses incurred in prosecuting their claims. Objections being made, the resolutions went over until tomorrow.

Mr. Shoup, Republican of Idaho, gave notice that he would address the Senate on the repeal bill.

Voorhees moved the repeal bill be taken up. Agreed to after Morgan, Democrat of Alabama, had said he had intended this morning to deliver a speech on the subject of creating a joint select committee on finance, but found it on the calendar and could not get it up without a vote of the Senate, which he did not wish to take for the purpose of antagonizing the motion of the chairman of the finance committee.

He said Voorhees and himself had a conference about the matter and had agreed he should not press his motion today.

At 12:40 the repeal bill was taken up. Stewart, Republican of Nevada, who was entitled to the floor, declined to yield to Wallhall, Democrat of Mississippi, who proceeded to address the Senate. He favored the passage of the repeal bill if the declaration of neutrality contained in the bill were embodied in the form of a binding act.

When Wallhall concluded Stewart resumed the floor and stated that he had read the Nevada senator the effect that the popular will on the silver question had been expressed in the Nevada constitution and must be obeyed. "It is true," said Stewart, "that Bennett was born in this country, but I think he has resided abroad for the last quarter of a century. Why should he assume," asked the senator, "to be more familiar with public sentiment than those of the United States who have lived here all of our lives?"

The chairman of the finance committee (Voorhees) was the next personage to receive attention at the hands of Stewart. Dolph, Republican of Oregon, at this point of the speech, said the absence of a quorum was manifest. A roll call showed fifty-seven senators present.

Referring to President Cleveland, Stewart said it was a sad thing for the American people that in his early life and ripe manhood he had not been surrounded, as Andrew Jackson was, by the profligate classes by laboring farmers, that he might sympathize with them. Cleveland was reared in a city; his office was in the Mills building, New York, the very center in the United States of European influence. He sympathized with his surroundings; and his surroundings were unfortunate for the American people. Cleveland's organs, said Stewart, constantly praised him for the use of federal patronage to secure the destruction of all legislation that pointed to silver. "I do not charge him with it," said Stewart, drawing himself to his full height and speaking with much warmth, "but if it is not true he should exclaim, 'Oh, God, deliver me from this man!'"

Stewart said there were several other branches of the subject of which he would treat hereafter (laughter), but that he would now close for this morning.

There was a good deal of executive business, Voorhees said, and he therefore moved the Senate to proceed to the consideration of the silver bill. The motion was agreed to and after a brief session with closed doors the Senate adjourned.

CARLISLE REFLECTS.

The Secretary Worried Over Decreasing Receipts.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7.—At no time since the war have the customs receipts been as low as now. The matter is causing Carlisle a good deal of worry. In the treasury last night the cash balance was reduced to $105,000,000, inclusive of the gold reserve and $1,000,000 abated and uncurrent subsidiary coin. What is left of the depleting gold reserve, continues to be the only cash balance in the treasury with which to pay the current expenses, the receipts now running about $270,000 per day behind the expenditures.

For the fiscal year from July 1 to the present time the treasury has received $1,000,000,000 in excess of the receipts by $19,000,000. At this rate the deficit at the end of the year will be very large.

THE CHINESE.

The Law of Deportation Will Now Be Executed.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7.—A telegraphic report of the decision of United States District Judge Ross at Los Angeles, yesterday, that Chinese illegally in the United States may be deported in spite of a lack of funds, was an interesting topic to the Chinese community officials.

At 5:30 p. m. most of the delegates went on an excursion to Mount Vernon. At a meeting of the special committee of the American Medical association, held at the Sherman hotel, was decided to recommend to the general business committee of the association that the date of the next annual meeting of the association, which will be held in St. Louis, be changed from the first Tuesday in May, 1894, to the first Tuesday in June, 1894.

WAR IN THE EAST.

The Four Hundred Ejected from the Fair Grounds.

It was also Brazil day, this being the anniversary of Brazilian independence. The Brazilian commissioners kept open house in honor of the occasion.

A general war has been begun by the exposition authorities against the class of fakirs who have infested the fair since it opened. These men having no concessions and no money, they have instances of goods in violation of the rules are to be cleared out. Nearly 400 of them were ejected from the grounds today.

It is estimated by the time the general clearing up is finished fully 1,000 of them will be out.

The rights of national commission to delegate powers invested in it by Congress to John Boyd Thatcher for the selection of jurors and the formation of a system of awards, is questioned in a bill brought in the United States court today by Chase Brothers, who have a piano exhibit at the fair. They also secured a temporary order restraining Thatcher or the jurors from proceeding with the inspection of the instruments.

Captain Starr of the United States revenue, stationed at Philadelphia, dropped dead on the grounds today of heart disease. He was accompanied by his wife.

The secretary of the navy has detailed Captain Jerry of the U. S. S. Michigan, to receive the Columbus caravels from Captain Canas, representing the Spanish government, on September 12.

The total admissions today were 232,376, of which 201,041 paid.

THE AMERICAN CUP.

The Columbia Wins the First Trial Race to Defend.

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—The first of the series of trial races to determine which of the new American sloops is best fitted to compete with the English yacht Valkyrie in the coming international races for the possession of the American cup was held today. The course was from Scotland lightship to and around a float fifteen miles to windward and return, finishing at the starting point. The competing yachts were the Vigilant, Jubilee and Columbia, the latter having withdrawn from the race because of a broken gaff.

The Vigilant led the race with the Jubilee six seconds behind. A twenty mile breeze was blowing from the southeast as the yachts started and the sea was moderately rough. Before starting the Columbia had taken down her club top-sail and substituted one of ordinary style. The Vigilant looked stumpy with her topmast down, but she traveled like a snail. She was five minutes after the start the Jubilee swung slowly around and started back for New York like a crippled pigeon. She had broken the outer block of gaff and withdrew. This left the contest between the Vigilant and the Columbia. The Vigilant was a few minutes behind the Columbia and was a few minutes behind the Vigilant.

Both were pointing almost in the eye of the wind and were drawing it as fine as they knew how. Both boats sailed independently and lacked when they liked, but the conditions were absolutely the same. All the sailing craft were left astern, except the pilot boat Gerry, which hung like a swift hawk on the bank of the Hudson.

Finally the race became a monotony of tacks, and it became apparent the Vigilant had borrowed her way up into the wind, leaving the Columbia a quarter of a mile astern.

The stake boat was finally sighted and this was where interest in the race reached its greatest height. The Vigilant had sailed the race in a few minutes before sighting the buoy. Just before reaching the buoy the Vigilant threw her long spinnaker boom to port, followed a few moments by the Columbia.

The Vigilant squared away for home and brought out her great spinnaker a few minutes after round the buoy. The Columbia was about five minutes behind the Vigilant and gained gradually on the Vigilant in the run home. Inch by inch and foot by foot she crept up and when the finish gun was fired she had won by six seconds.
